

OVER 500 TECH PRODUCTS INSIDE!

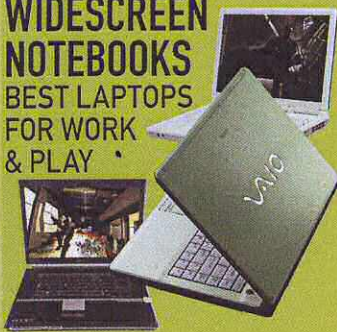

FROM THE EDITORS OF

LAPTOP
MOBILE SOLUTIONS FOR BUSINESS & LIFE

GADGET

GIFT GUIDE

WIDESCREEN NOTEBOOKS
BEST LAPTOPS FOR WORK & PLAY

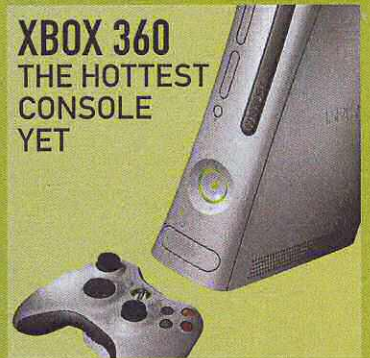

DIGITAL CAMERAS
SLIMMEST NEW SHARP SHOOTERS

SIMPLE SURROUND
HOME THEATERS IN A BOX

XBOX 360
THE HOTTEST CONSOLE YET

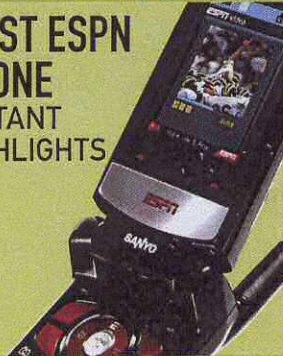

APPLE'S NEW IPOD
TUNES + VIDEO

HDTVs
CHEAPER, BETTER, FLATTER

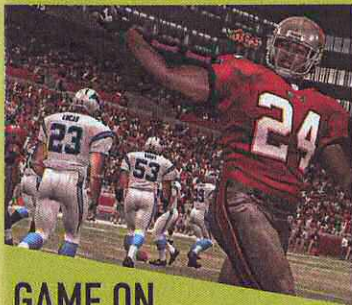

FIRST ESPN PHONE
INSTANT HIGHLIGHTS

NEW DVDs
CAN'T-MISS DISCS

GAME ON BEST NEW TITLES

GIFT CARDS
20 QUICK & EASY IDEAS

MUSIC IN ANY ROOM
WIRELESS MEDIA PLAYERS

SAVE BIG
TOP 100 PRODUCTS UNDER $100

KILLER CLICKERS
NEW UNIVERSAL REMOTES

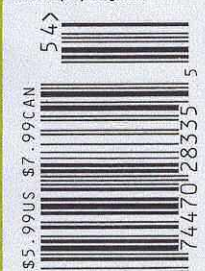

WIN IT!
see p. 26

26 COOL PRIZES!
INCLUDING THE NEW RAZR

Special Issue
Display until March 1, 2006
www.laptopmag.com

Motorola Magenta RAZR

What can we say? The RAZR is the phone of the moment and the Magenta RAZR takes the trend one flashy step further. Yes, she'll get all the standard RAZR goodies (VGA camera, Bluetooth, big LCD), but think how great that slim pink metal case will look in Mom's purse. These will fly off the shelves.

$299; www.t-mobile.com

Motorola
Magenta RAZR

Nokia 770

Mom has her e-mail and Internet needs, too. Fill them with the 770, a small Web tablet that hooks up to her home Wi-Fi connection for always-on access to the Web. Part PDA, part tablet, this high-concept Nokia device does everything Mom needs it to and does it well. Future enhancements will include VoIP for local phone calls.

$350; www.nokia.com

Nokia 770

Oregon Scientific MSN Regional Direct Weather Station

Now you'll listen when Mom tells you to take a sweater. The Oregon Scientific MSN Regional Direct Weather Station gives the time, temperature, and barometric readings. With this device near the door, the family will always be ready, come rain or shine.

$199; www2.oregonscientific.com

Oregon Scientific
MSN Regional Direct
Weather Station

Roku SoundBridge Radio

Sony BRAVIA KDL-V40XBR1

WIB Liberator

Roku SoundBridge Radio

The Roku SoundBridge Radio can replace her old alarm clock. It also supports streaming audio from any computer and picks up AM/FM stations and Internet radio streams. With the SoundBridge, she can snooze to almost anything broadcast under the sun. It's a great way to get Mom into digital music.

$399; www.roku.com

Sony BRAVIA KDL-V40XBR1

This 40-inch LCD HDTV might seem expensive until you see it in action. Sony's backlighting system produces purer white light for a wider and more accurate range of colors, while Super Patterned Vertical Alignment technology ensures a wider viewing angle and faster response times. The new BRAVIA line is designed foremost for ease of use, with a simple menu and handy input skip function to switch between the TV and DVD player. Mom will thank you.

$3,499; www.sonystyle.com

WIB Liberator

An ultra-hot laptop case with an after-hours look, the Liberator holds a 15.4-inch or smaller laptop in an EVA-lined compartment with a microfiber shell. Besides the laptop compartment, there's an accessory storage area and a detachable matching purse for Mom's essentials when stepping out without the main bag. She'll be all business and all style with the Liberator. It comes in leopard, scarlet red, pink, or black.

$49.99; www.wibbags.com

Logitech QuickCam Notebooks

Webcams finally got an upgrade with the new QuickCam Notebooks Pro. It's remarkably thin (just an inch wide and about 2.5-inches high), features a 3-megapixel sensor and offers smooth video and audio with a microphone with echo-cancellation. It clips onto the top of a notebook screen, and lets you spice up your video chats with 3D avatars.

www.logitech.com

QuickCam Notebooks Pro

Microsoft Wireless Notebook Laser Mouse 6000

Think optical mice are cool? Make room for laser, which offers even greater precision and response. Designed for travel, Microsoft's laser mouse works wirelessly with a USB receiver that fits into the bottom of the mouse and turns off the power to conserve the battery. Other standout features include a wheel that lets them scroll vertically and horizontally and a magnifying button that enlarges the selected area on the screen.

$54.95;
www.microsoft.com/hardware

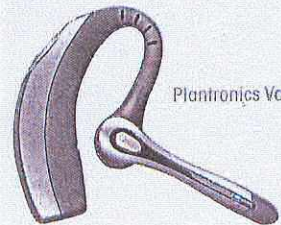

Microsoft Wireless Notebook Laser Mouse 6000

Plantronics Voyager 510S Office Headset System

For on-the-go business traveler who can't be bothered with multiple devices, the Voyager 510S headset works with office phones, Bluetooth-enabled cell phones, PDAs, and laptops. The Desktop Adapter connects to most office phones, serves as a charger, and lets them use the headset for all their landline calls. When they're on the road, it switches instantly to their mobile device without any extra setup.

$299;
www.plantronics.com

Plantronics Voyager 510S

SanDisk Cruzer Micro USB Smart Drive

With U3 smart technology, they can safely take their e-mails, contacts, and passwords from their home PC and use them on any Windows XP or Windows 2000 PC. Available in 512MB and 1GB capacities, the Cruzer Micro includes software that syncs with Outlook and stores all their passwords, allowing them to turn a foreign PC into their own. When unplugged, all their personal data remains on the smart drive, not the computer.

$54.95 (512MB),
$99.95 (1GB);
www.sandisk.com

SanDisk Cruzer Micro USB Smart Drive

WIB Legend (for Her)/Targus Global Executive Universal Case (for Him)

With notebook cases, there's no such thing as one size fits all. The WIB Legend is a stylish bag made of Napa leather. It can hold her widescreen 15.4-inch notebook and has a small removable purse for carrying the essentials at after-work events. For guys, the Targus likewise holds a 15.4-inch notebook, and has an extra compartment for other gear. It's well padded and has several compartments for accessories.

WIB Legend, $149;
www.wibbags.com

Targus Global Executive Universal Case, $129;
www.targus.com

WIB Legend for Her/Targus Global Executive Universal Case for Him

